Rotating around the world on an annual basis, GEMFS is a one-of-a-kind in-person and virtual event that connects and informs voluntary, regulatory, and program-driven markets across carbon, water, biodiversity, and finance -- and across industry sectors, resource agencies, providers and supporters of solutions, impactors, and funders.

High-level leaders of change and implementation joining:

- Designing, exploring, implementing carbon, water, biodiversity, ESG or investment goals.
- Seeking quantifiable environmental outcomes with economic and public benefit.
- Offering solutions to meet carbon, water, biodiversity, ESG and/or investment goals.
- Developing and/or implementing policy to support sustainable environmental outcomes.
- Looking to understand the different market mechanisms and opportunities.
- Innovators in process, data, and measurement.
- Involved or interested in Nature-based Solutions (NbS).

PARTNERS are recognized leaders in environmental markets and finance and have a shared vision for this important summit.
